

Course Description – Aquatic Science

This is a lab-oriented course with special emphasis on the various environmental units on the Texas Gulf Coast. Thorough studies are made of the physical, chemical, geological, and biological aspects of freshwater and marine habitats. Topics include components of the aquatic ecosystem, cycles within the aquatic environment, and adaptations of aquatic organisms.