

Course Description - Astronomy

This survey course offers the student an opportunity to study the mechanical and structural aspects of astronomy. Topics included are evolution of the universe, characteristics and life cycles of stars, exploration of the universe, and features of the solar system.