Rev for Fall, 2019

CFISD Interpersonal Studies

Scope and Sequence

Course Description:

This interesting, introspective course is a study of how the relationships between individuals and relationships in and out of the family significantly affect one's quality of life. Learners are exposed to strategies that promote physical, emotional, intellectual, and social development. The careers connected to this course are in the areas of counseling and mental health services, as well as social work. (1/2 Credit)

- Grades 10, 11, and 12
- Recommended prerequisite: Principles of Human Services
- Lab supplies or fee may be required.

TEKS

Cluster: Human Services

Endorsement: Public Services

- Meets advanced course requirement (Y/N): N
- Meets foundation requirement for math, science, fine arts, English, LOTE (Y/N-area): N

Industry Certification/Credentials: n/a

Instructional Units	Pacing
1st or 2nd Semester Factors related to personal development Short & long-term implications of personal development Stress management techniques Considerations related to the transition to independent adulthood Family's role in relationship development Relationship development outside of the family Factors related to marital success Methods that promote an effective family unit The (individual & family) impacts of changes throughout the family life cycle Types of needs & crises experienced by individuals & families Employability skills Opportunities & preparation requirement for chosen careers Management practices of individuals, assume multiple family, community & wage-earner roles	Grading Period 1/3 Grading Period 2/4
Professional skills and behavior

Primary Instructional Materials: Interpersonal Relationships, Goodheart Willcox ISBN: 9781683112723