

CFISD English IV (Academic)

Scope & Sequence 2018-19

Course Description:

This course continues an emphasis on fundamental reading strategies and composition techniques aligned with college learning outcomes. The primary focus of this course is the refinement of composition skills, usage skills, and research skills needed for the workplace and for college. Emphasis is placed on critical reading and the writing process. Opportunities to practice listening/speaking and an emphasis on media literacy are inherent in the course. Successful completion of English IV with an A or B average and succession completion of an in-class, timed, cumulative writing assessment qualifies a student to enroll in Freshman Composition at Lone Star without taking the TSI reading and writing assessment or a developmental reading or writing course; students who qualify must enroll in Freshman Composition at Lone Star the summer or fall session immediately after graduation.
