

CFISD Securities and Investments

Scope and Sequence

Course Description:

Securities and investments have become top story items in today’s news. Knowing what a security is (and is not), how profit is generated, regulations and taxation issues, real estate law and the nature of investment risk will not only help students understand the news, but gain insight into options for their own personal financial planning as well. You, too, can soon own a part of your favorite company. Students taking this course should consider also taking Banking and Financial Services. (1 credit)
